6.0 LIBRARIANS REPORT

a) Spring Fever Days-Carolyn helped Mellisa sort through the books which Nick had culled from circulation. They have created displays and set up the book sale area for ease of access to shoppers. Mellisa also set up several grab-and-go tote bags for sale, each with a different theme.

b) Community Engagement-Mellisa has been working hard to meet with other organizations around the area. She met with Debbie Degroot from the NWHU, Debbie Howson and Cindy Judson from the Grand Finale Seniors Center, Arthur Heath and Ryan Daw from the Salvation Army, and Dawn Whiting from the Ministry of Tourism, Culture and Gaming.

- c) RRFDC-Volunteer Event-Mellisa attended this event hosted by the Rainy River Futures Development Corps. This event was an opportunity to learn how to attract volunteers to your organization. Though there wasn't a great deal of information that would help us in starting Friends of the Library, there was useful information for event planning.
- d) Pushing up Daisies-May 12 Mellisa will be attending the Pushing Up Daisies event at the Emo Legion. She has will attend with a display board and several resources available for people attending the event. Memory books, Estate planning toolkits, and information around the need for a digital executor will be part of her display, as well as books which can be signed out from our library. Board members noted a wish for resources for children experiencing grief to be shared at this event.
- e) Teddy Bear Picnic-Mellisa and April are planning a Teddy Bear's picnic for a summer kickoff party after school lets out. They are working together to set up crafts and activities, snacks, stories, singing. This event will be held July 7.
- f) Statistics Tracking-Our former tracking method was tallying library users that came in the door, and statistics from the Jasi system regarding our circulation. This works for our annual survey but doesn't identify the demographics of visitors that come in, making it hard to see who we may be missing in the community. Mellisa has a new tracking form modelled after the weekly use of libraries survey for better representation by group. This information will also be used for future grant applications and our strategic planning. At this time the data for monthly reports only has number of visits-the new tracking method will break things down better, and will be used next month.

Included is an overview of roles and responsibilities for an effective board, a worksheet for SWOT analysis, and information about the strategic planning services available through OLS. - j) Thank you to Carolyn Stang. Carolyn has been instrumental in helping me to get oriented in our library. She has taught me how to use the Jasi system; she has helped me to cull many of the unnecessary items from the office and to organize the book sale area. We have cleaned, dusted and disinfected almost everything in the building that accumulated dust during the extended closure of our library. I have a thank-you card for Carolyn, with a small token of my appreciation, signed from the Emo Public Library Board.
